Doctor Highlight

Dr Carolyn Wilde Gynaecologist

MBBS, FRANCOG

Dr Carolyn Wilde is part of our Women's Health and Surgery services. As a Gippsland local, Carolyn finished her schooling in Sale before completing a Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery at The University of Melbourne in 2004. The majority of her Fellowship in Obstetrics and Gynaecology was completed at The Mercy Hospital for Women in Melbourne, with the final two years in Ballarat and Western Victoria to gain more generalist gynaecology surgical experience in rural and regional settings. Her training included a focus on general gynaecological surgery as well as endometriosis surgery.

In 2016, Carolyn returned to Gippsland with her family and has held the role of Gynaecology lead at West Gippsland Healthcare Group over the last 7 years.

Carolyns' interests are surgical procedures for menstrual disorders, treating endometriosis and menorrhagia as well as advanced laparoscopic surgery including laparoscopic hysterectomy, endometriosis surgery and infertility surgery.

As a result of current medicolegal controversies around use of mesh for incontinence procedures, Carolyn will not be performing urogynaecology procedures and recommends referrals for urinary incontinence and repeat prolapse surgery be directed to a Urogynaecologist.
